

COVERT ENTRY CONCEPTS

TORONTO, ON

9 & 10 MAY
2020

This course will teach Law Enforcement Personnel, Special Operations Forces, Government, security professionals and select security-conscious civilians the principles of physical security, lock bypassing, lock picking and making covert entries into buildings or properties.

This class is entirely hands on. From the moment you enter the course you will have tools in your hand and are working to exploit various locking mechanisms. Students will learn to recognize the vulnerabilities in existing hardware, how they are attacked, or sometimes even bypassed entirely. You'll walk away with the skills needed to compromise most of the locks used in North America today. Students will be much better positioned to provide service in a variety of tactical areas: check welfare calls, search and arrest warrant service, establishing sniper positions, sneak and peak operations, surveillance operations, fire safe opening, and breaking and entering investigations. This will also give a solid grounding in advanced physical security principles.

Since the techniques taught in this class are largely nondestructive agencies will also benefit by having a decrease in costs and civil actions due to property damage.
